Headline:
A wet start, becoming drier and brighter later. Windy throughout.

Today:
After a wet start, with widespread heavy showers, conditions soon become drier as these clear away eastwards through morning. The odd shower lingers into the afternoon, but it will be dry for most with sunny spells. Windy, especially along coasts. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
A band of rain, heavy at times, arrives over Cornwall in the early evening before progressing across the region overnight. Becoming drier from the west through the early hours. Windy. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Monday:
Another day of sunny spells and widespread afternoon showers, these heavy and possibly thundery at times before they ease into the evening. Breezy throughout, especially along coasts. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Drier Tuesday, with sunny spells and less frequent showers than recently. Cloudier Wednesday but staying largely dry, before rain arrives overnight and into early Thursday; dry following this. Feeling warmer.
